THIRTY-SIXTH YEAR

LIMA, OHIO, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1921

PRICE THREE CENTS

Increment

REAL estate in the five boroughs of New York City this year is assessed, for taxation, at a total valuation of $9,947,323.093. It probably rents on a basis of at least twice that much.

Peter Minuit, first Dutch governor-general of New York (then known as New Amsterdam,) bought the entire Manhattan island, from the Indians, for beads and other forms of barter worth $25.

The land hasn't changed. But compare the value. That shows you what tolling humanity does, to increase the landlord's wealth.

Monday

LIMA movie managers say that attendance of women at Monday matinees is on the increase.

The world do move. There was a time when Monday was nothing but washday—a spot in the week that stood for sore trouble and nothing more.

But now it's a popular day for relaxation.

The reason? Modern inventions that make washday easier.

Wine

THE nation's grape crop, says the government's October estimate, will be only 69 per cent of the average yield. The only other crops that are worse off are cotton 68 and apples 53 per cent of average.

The short grape yield will do more to help prohibition than an army of revenue agents. High price is the original booze cure.

Judges

LIMA and Ohio are vitally interested in the recommendation of Chief Justice Taft that 18 more federal judgeships be created throughout the country to relieve the clogged courts.

The wheels of justice grind slowly at best, but the fact that 150,000 unfinished cases remain in the federal courts indicates that it would take years to clear the dockets if no new cases were filed.

Lima people are interested in some of them and anything which would bring a speedier settlement would be appreciated.

Mystery

A MAN once toured the country and astounded scientists with an automatic chess player. It was an iron box too small to hold a human. The owner placed it on a table, and its iron arms moved the chess men infallibly.

Later this mystery was solved. The iron box contained a legless midge.

Every generation has its mysteries. Those of the present are mostly financial mysteries. They seem beyond human solution, on the surface. Future generations will look back at them and class them with the mechanical chess player.

Toil

AMAZING facts are disclosed by the census. For instance, in 1919 there were 289,763 manufacturing establishments in the United States. These employed 9,103,200 wage-earners, which is an especially interesting figure if you are a farmer supplying food.

These wage-earners took $37,372,534,000 worth of materials and, by human labor, converted them into finished products that sold for $62,510,202,000.

When the Great American Novel is written, its background will be the romance and adventure involved in these statistics. They express the soul of America.

Problem

IN solving one problem, we usually create another problem, often a greater one. A speaker tells the American Chemical Society that sewer pipes, which are very essential in rural roads and in draining farms, also take away from the farms 50,000,000 tons of fertility a year.

Wise farmers replace this loss with commercial fertilizer. The early farmers mined the soil instead of farming it.

Popcorn

POPCORN season approaches. Lima folks, when your child is weary of their toy airplanes and mechanical dolls, buy them a corn-popper.

The child that has never shaken the popper and watched yellow kernels explode into fluffy white popcorn, has missed one of the real joys of life. Hot and buttered, or candied into balls, it is as vital for a complete childhood, as Santa Claus, or Charlie Chaplin. By the way, do you think children of today have as much fun as we did years ago in that little country town?

Movies Must Clean Up!

So Says Billy Sunday, Writing on Subject for The Lima News

MOVIES and their effects on public morals are discussed for The Lima News in three articles written by Rev. Billy Sunday, the famous evangelist. This is the first.

(By REV. BILLY SUNDAY)
Famous American Evangelist

I NEVER have condemned the theatre as an institution, nor will I condemn the movies as an institution, but I will not stand for the rotten things they often tolerate. The biggest men in the theatrical business are constantly striving to put the stage on a higher level and the public has confidence in those men. I don't need to name them; most everybody knows them. And the actors and actresses most loved by the big American public are those who play in clean plays and live clean lives.

The same thing can hold true of the movies. Because of its cheapness and its novelty and its big variety of interest, the movie has become immensely popular. It can continue so and become a power for good as well as the most marvelous entertaining enterprise.

NO LICENSE TO PURVEY TO FILTH

But the movie has no more business to purvey rot and licentiousness and cussedness and filth than the pulpit and press have. We are most of us trying to make it easier in this country to do right and harder to do wrong and if that isn't our ideal we haven't any right to claim American citizenship. So let the movie theaters do not have to purvey to filth. Let the other big interests, political and social and religious, aim at building up morals and not tearing them down.

If it does not, the whole business will go on the rubbish heap. America is clean at heart and patient to the last degree, but when she does make up her mind to clean house, she acts so quick the devil staggers. He never knows what struck him when she bundles up the licensed saloons and skidded them into hell on the toboggan slide of the eighteenth amendment.

CLEAN PLAYS ARE MOST PROFITABLE

I understand that fine plays like "Way Down East" have been filmed and made money for their producers. The stage plays that made the record run of all records in New York are clean and wholesome. There is abundant proof that the stage and the movie theater do not have to purvey to depraved tastes.

If the public elevates a player to stardom, that star is under obligation to the public. Sin is sin; the effect is worse for a public character to be guilty of it, than for a private citizen. His influence for good or evil goes far and wide. Boys and girls by the hundreds of thousands are looking for heroes in heroic and appealing roles. They naturally idealize them. I can think of nothing more contemptible than for a movie star to shatter the confidence of youth in things that are clean and upright by being crooked in his or her personal life.

DON'T PATRONIZE IMMORAL MOVIES

The average decent, honest, home-loving, God-fearing American citizen can control the situation and save the movie business from wreck. Don't patronize licentious, jazzy, unnatural, suggestive, immoral pictures. Don't let your children go. I'd rather put a rattlesnake in bed with my boy than an unclean thought in his head. Public opinion is the most potent material force in the universe. A conscientious determination on the part of the average citizen to clean up the movies will accomplish it in less time than it takes to wind up a hundred feet of film thru the projecting machine. The real cause for the censorship of the movies is the fact that hundreds of thousands of boys and girls and young people patronize them that never go to the spoken drama. But the censorship can do injustice even to the producer, because his ideas and artistic viewpoint and all the time and vast sums spent to produce a film must filter thru the often narrow, bigoted censor, who may hold his job because of some political pull and is no more competent to judge a picture than a dog is to teach astronomy.

Sunday Billy Sunday will discuss the sex movie.

INDIANA BOY MAY NOT BE TRIED FOR MURDER

KNOX, Ind. — Cecil Burkett, an eleven-year-old boy under indictment for first degree murder, will not be tried at the present time of circuit court on the charge of killing seven-year-old Rennie Slavin. Prosecuting Attorney John A. Dille has announced. The prosecutor has added that he was not certain that the case would be called at the January term. The Burkett boy shot the Slavin while they were at play last Thanksgiving day.

LEWIS DEFIED BY STRIKERS

12,000 Kansas Miners Refuse to Return to Work.

STAND BY THE JAILED CHIEF

Meet Late Today to Determine Further Action.

PITTSBURG, Kas. — (By United Press) — Whether Southern Kansas miners, 12,000 of whom are striking in protest against jailing of Alexander Howat for violating the industrial court law, will accept the conservative Lewis leadership and return to work or obey the command of Howat to "fight on," was expected to be determined at mass meetings in the coal fields late today.

As Howat, from his cell, also occupied by August Dorchy, his vice-president at Columbus, issued the edict "to hell with Governor Allen and President Lewis—we'll continue the fight," John Fleming, who Howat left in charge of the district, defied the order of international President Lewis in suspending the Howat organization and for the men to return to work.

Fleming refused to turn the leadership or finances of the district over to George L. Peck, Lewis' acting president, and Thomas Harvey, Lewis' treasurer.

Both sides were today mobilizing their forces for the meetings of miners. One meeting will be held at Scammon, another at Franklin, the former the conservative center and the latter the "radical" headquarters. These meetings are to determine which way the men will go.

RALLY TO HOWAT

TOPEKA, Kas. — (By United Press) — W. E. Freeman, president of the Kansas Federation of Labor, today appealed to every local labor union in Kansas to come to the financial aid of the southern Kansas miners who are striking as a protest of Alexander Howat, district mine chief, being sent to jail for violation of the Kansas industrial court law.

Freeman declared he was solidly behind Howat, who international President John Lewis suspended from command of the 14th mine union district. He alleged Lewis' suspending district officers as "a traitorous violation" from the ranks of foes of the court.

STRIKE CALLED BY RAIL UNIONS

Workers to Quit Unless Wage Negotiations Aeopen.

ULTIMATUM SENT TO ROADS

Action Taken As Carriers Meet to Cut Pay.

CHICAGO — (By United Press) — Rail workers hurled an ultimatum at their employers today by deciding to strike October 30, unless negotiations on wages and working conditions were reopened.

Railroad executives, who met here today, defied the most powerful labor unions in the nation, by proceeding with their plans to slash wages in the face of a strike.

The decision to strike was reached by the heads of the railroad brotherhoods early today following days of conferences.

STRIKE PLANS

According to the plans mapped out by the union heads, men on all lines will not be called out at once. The nation's transportation system has been divided into ten groups for strike purposes.

Workers on the roads comprising one group will be called out first. Then, if the management refuses to confer with men in view of bettering wages and working conditions, workers in the next group will be called out and so on down the line until every one of the 2,000,000 workers have deserted their posts and tied up the nation's transportation system.

CHIEFS IN SESSION

These are the railroad chiefs who called the strike and mapped out the plan: W. S. Stone, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; L. E. Shepard, Order of Railway Conductors; W. S. Carter, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers; and T. C. Cashen, Switchmen's Union of North America.

W. G. Lee, of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, did not sit in on the session, but he was not in the city.

The big brotherhoods have the backing of the members of the Federated Shop Crafts, who are affiliated with the railway department of the American Federation of Labor. The shop men, of which Hart M. Jewell is president, were the first to vote overwhelmingly in favor of a strike, but held up their decision pending action of the brotherhoods.

ALL ACT TOGETHER

All union men will act together in the crisis, it has been decided by their leaders.

The strike vote was taken in protest against the 12 per cent cut in wages which took place on Sept. 1, on orders of the United States railroad labor board.

Since then several men high in the councils of unionism have stated they would not use their powerful club unless another attempt was made to cut wages.

may be slashed to stimulate business.

SAW HARDING

These rail executives, leaders of those who went into session here today, conferred with President Harding, Secretary of Commerce Hoover, and other administration leaders in Washington last week.

T. DeWitt Cuyler, Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania system; President Smith of the New York Central; President Hale Holden of the Burlington and Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the board of directors of the Southern Pacific. Following the conference in Washington came the call for the meeting of the railroad executives in Chicago.

Executives plan, according to the best available information to ask the United States railroad board, for a ten per cent cut in wages in addition to the 12 per cent that was ordered last July.

The original petition presented to the labor board by W. W. Atterbury, vice-president of the Pennsylvania, asked for a 20 per cent cut. This would have brought wages to the level they were before the board granted the big boost in July, 1920.

HOLDER OF NEWS POLICY INJURED

J. P. McKinley Pinned Under Overturned Automobile.

James P. McKinley, 58, of 773 Bellefontaine-ave., an insurance agent, was seriously injured shortly after 9 o'clock Friday morning when his Ford touring car overturned at the intersection of E. Market-st. and Park-ave.

McKinley is a policy holder in The Lima News insurance department and should not die as the result of the accident, his beneficiaries will receive $1,000.

While disabled, he will receive $10 a week for a period not exceeding 13 weeks.

Witnesses say McKinley was driving west on E. Market-st. and that he was unable to get his machine under control in time to prevent colliding with an Overland roadster being driven out of Park-ave by F. K. Fullington, a salesman for the Lakeside Biscuit company.

The force of the impact caused McKinley's machine to overturn in the middle of the street, pinning him beneath it. Passersby aided Fullington in rescuing the injured man.

He was carried to the City hospital, a block away. Expectancy of internal injuries cannot be determined until after an X-ray examination late Friday.

The Ford being driven by McKinley was badly damaged. How he escaped instant death is a miracle, parties who witnessed the accident state.

Big Damage Case Outgrowth of Address by Civil Service Commissioner Before Law Enforcement League

Here on October 7

Four Causes of Action Given In Petition—Zeits Declines to Discuss Matter Until His Attorney Is Consulted

Damages of $25,000 are asked by Chief of Police O. J. Roush from Fred Zeits, city civil service commissioner, in a suit filed in Common Pleas court Friday. Roush charges slander.

The action is an outgrowth of the address made by Zeits before the Allen-co Law Enforcement League several days ago, when Zeits is alleged to have attacked Roush.

It is upon the charges made by Zeits that the mayor has instituted an investigation of the chief and his office by a special commission named by the mayor. This investigation is under way now.

FOUR CAUSES OF ACTION NAMED IN PETITION FILED BY ROUSH

Four causes of action alleging slander are enumerated in the action filed by Roush. They quote alleged statements of Zeits as follows:

- 1.—"Roush was indicted by the Allen-co grand jury."
- 2.—"Roush extorted money from a bootlegger as the price for protection."
- 3.—"He (meaning Roush) collected and kept rewards which should have been placed in the Police Pension Fund."
- 4.—"Eight or nine pistols and several shotguns taken from alleged bandits in the gun battle on the South Side last May have disappeared."

The petition says that the allegations quoted are false and that they have injured the good name and reputation of the plaintiff in the sum of $25,000.

ATTORNEY DECLARES CHARGES WILL BE REFUTED IN COURT

Mel. C. Light, attorney for Roush, who filed suit, declared Friday that the charges credited to Zeits and included in the petition will be proved unfounded in court.

Enumerating them, he said the records will show that Roush was never indicted; that the pistols and shotguns are held by Roush in a safe under the direction of the prosecutor; that no money has ever been received by Roush from liquor dealers, and that it can be shown that no money belonging in the Police Pension Fund was ever held out.

Zeits told a representative of The Lima News that he had not been served with notice of the suit and did not know what it contained.

He said he would not make a statement concerning it until he had consulted his attorney.

"If Roush feels that he has been damaged by anything I said, I court the action," Zeits declared. "I am willing to have the entire matter brought out."

COLONEL HOUSE CALLS AT WILSON RESIDENCE

WASHINGTON — Colonel F. M. House, who so far as known has not seen former President Wilson since the reported development of differences between them during the peace negotiations at Paris, more than two years ago, called at his residence here yesterday and left his cards for the former president and Mrs. Wilson.

While it has been reported several times since that these difficulties had been forgotten, Colonel House's relations with the former president as confidential adviser on political and international affairs, covering the first six years of his presidency, were understood never to have been resumed during his tenure of office after apparently being definitely terminated following the peace conference.

NEW YORK — (By Associated Press) — Another chapter of the correspondence between President Harding and Miss Ella L. Freed concerning the coming conference on limitation of armament, was made public today by "Miss Freed," who added that the president has misread her name, which really is Mrs. Ella L. Freed.

The president made public on Wednesday a letter in response to one from her, in which he gave his first extended public outline of what he hoped to see achieved at the conference.

Mrs. Freed said she had written a reply urging a reduction by one-third of armaments. The letter read:

"I would what you meant by reasonable limitation. You say you mean something practical. That is exactly the same thing you said before in other words. Synonyms are not definitions."

"Permit me to ask whether you consider reduction of world's military armaments of one-half reasonable or practical? If every one of the nations at the conference agrees to reduce its armaments one half, their relative strength would remain at great as before. That is clear, I hope."

"Then why not suggest one half reduction? When that has been done the women of the world will furnish you further suggestions as to what is reasonable and practical."

Mrs. Freed, aged 23, lives at Pittsburgh. She has been serving as a speaker for the Citizens' Disarmament Committee.

The services here will be followed by those at the late senator's home at Valley Forge, Pa., on Saturday. Among those who will attend will be Vice President Coolidge, the entire foreign relations committee, Senator Penrose and Senator Underwood, Alabama, Democratic leader, representing the senate, and a committee from the house.

TERRORIST RULES IN RUSSIA

Committee Responsible To No One—Noted Traveler Says

FEARED BY GOVERNMENT

Future of Nation Depends on This Organization.

GENEVA, Switzerland — (By N. E. A. Service) — "Watch the Terrorist Committee" if you want to know what is on the cards in Russia.

That is the counsel of a distinguished traveler who has just reached Geneva after a trip of investigation in Russia.

As an authority who knew the country well in the day of the czar, his opinions are invaluable.

"The Terrorist Committee," said this authority, "is a government, inside a government, a more powerful government inside a less powerful government."

"It is the secret organization of all secret Russia. It is its own authority. Responsible to no one."

NO EXCEPTIONS

Except, of course, Lenin and Trotsky," the writer interrupted.

"No," he answered. "No exceptions about it. It is NOT responsible to Lenin, Trotsky, the Moscow government or anyone else. It is responsible to NO ONE."

"That is the thing I have been unable to make any of my friends understand. This terrorist committee (officially the Extraordinary Commission for the Suppression of the Counter-Revolution) is totally irresponsible."

"Accountable to the Moscow government?" The Moscow government every man of the government, fears the Terrorist Committee just as the humblest peasant fears it.

"And yet, paradoxical as it seems to say it, it is this committee that holds the Moscow government in power."

IN TERRORISTS' HANDS

"With the terrorists' rest, to a very great degree, the events of the future in Russia."

"That is why I say, 'Watch the Terrorist Committee,' when you ask me what is on the cards in Russia."

"If the terrorists fall, the whole structure falls. It is held together only by terror, and the committee furnishes the terror."

"The terrorists, as might be surmised, are extremists in their beliefs. They are scornful of concessions made by Moscow authorities to necessity."

"They were enraged when Lenin and Trotsky opened the door to the West just a little—only to let in food for the starving and goods so badly needed."

"And they showed their scorn and anger in a terribly convincing fashion."

WORK OF TERRORISTS

"You read recently, of course, of the killing of 61 men and women of the intellectual class in one day, sculptors, poets, men of letters, among them, slain without apparent reason."

"I'll tell you the reason. Those 61 people of Russia were slain by the Terrorist Committee as a protest against the Moscow government's 'concessions' to the West—yes, in spite of the fact that the door was opened only a little and to let in food and medicines and clothes."

"Anyone may guess but no man can say what will eventually come to Russia."

"Terrorism is not confined to the general Terrorist Committee. Instances of it stare you in the face throughout Bolshevik Russia."

"For example, for three years, the beautiful town of Khatynburg, where the czar and his family were killed, has been under the absolute rule of a Bible seller and a woman companion. They kill if they please whom they please. They are such such commands, as they like, when they like. They are obeyed."

FORD AND PARTY VISIT LIMA

With Corps of Easy Clerks, Here Only Few Minutes.

Encoached in his luxuriously finished private car on his own special train and surrounded by a corps of private secretaries, clerks and men of service, Henry Ford, owner of the D. T. & I. railroad, slipped in Lima for four minutes at the Heile fountain-depot, Friday afternoon.

A statement from the automobile and railroad magnate could not be had on the possibility of his purchase of the Cincinnati Milford & Blanche railroad, which would give the D. T. & I. entrance into Cincinnati and create a Detroit-Mobile direct line.

Engineer T. Bruin, veteran of the line on the Detroit division and Fireman Peacock, were the engine crew. The locomotive of the Jack rabbit type, is of silver grey finish, with trimmings in solid nickel and brass. It is the only one in the country, if not in the world, of its particular beauty, and Ford has taken considerable pride in it, it is said.

The remainder of the special train consisted of a combination baggage and general day service car and Ford's palatial private car. Conduct-

TROOP E REMAINS

Cavalry Unit Not to be Displaced, Florence Says.

That there is no immediate danger of changing troop E into an artillery unit, was the text of information received here Friday from Adjutant General Florence.

There are two cavalry troops in the state than are provided for in its organization, which must be made into artillery or disbanded, he said, but the Lima troop is not one of the two most likely to be disbanded, Adjutant General Florence stated.

Charged with having disposed of some of the troop's property Troop E was arrested in Munich, Ind., late Thursday night and will be returned to Lima to face the charges lodged against him, Lieutenant-Colonel Charles B. Craig said Friday.

Additional arrests are expected to follow a more extensive investigation of the troops affairs, it is declared.

BUSY MEN

Do their part and more—They move the world of business. They find work for other men and for other men's money.

There may be a profit in both, but it takes a busy man and a good plan to find it. Most folks who pay their debts find more work for men than money. But money ought to work. It does in the South Side Building and Loan Association, 128 W. High Street.

POLITICS PASSES INTO DISCARD

Today Commerce Is King Among Thinking Americans.

CONGRESS IS LOP-SIDED

Too Many Lawyers Flood Into U. S. Capital.

(By B. C. FORBES)
NEW YORK — (Special) — It is not you see it?
Philo C. Knox typified the powerful politician of a day that is passing.
Herbert Hoover is typical of the coming era.

Knox was an outstanding leader among the too-large army of lawyers who have constituted so preponderating a percentage of our legislative representatives at Washington. Congress has been lopsided with lawyers. Washington apparently has been the goal of every young man graduating from law school than probably has been good for the country.

Politics used to be king in this country, and our leading politicians gripped the imagination of the public. They monopolized the limelight. Their comings and goings and utterances were minutely recorded. A prominent senator was a sort of tin god. The favor of such men was eagerly courted. It used to be said, in fact, that any man's credit was lost if he could be seen walking down Fifth Avenue with Chauncey M. Depew.

Today commerce is king. The public are far more interested in reading about the careers, the activities and the views of powerful financiers and marshals of industry than in reading about politicians. The phenomenal growth of business organizations has invested those at the head of them with tremendous influence over the well being of others. The daily bread of so many thousands is dependent upon the acts of great corporation heads that it becomes important what these magnates do or propose to do.

A Judge Gary, for example, wields infinitely more power over the life and living conditions of a million or more men, women and children, than is the most powerful politician. The acts and the views of the outlook entertained by such men as Chas. M. Schwab, of Bethlehem Steel; President Rea, of the Pennsylvania railroad; Louis F. Swift, head of the largest packing company in the world, John D. Ryan, the dominating figure in the copper industry; J. P. Morgan, C. I. Baer, James Sweeney, Mortimer L. Schiff, Charles E. Mitchell, Chas. H. Quinn, Albert H. Wiggin, Edgar L. Mason and other mighty bankers; Henry Ford, king-pin of the motor industry; Walter C. Teagle, Edward L. Doherty, Henry L. Doherty, Harry Sinclair and other oil giants; William M. Wood, the arbiter of the woolen manufacturing industry; Julius Rosenthal, the mail-order titan; John H. Patterson, of each register name; George Eastman, who has made photography an art; J. Edgar Hoover, who now controls the Federal Bureau of Investigation; John W. Aldrich, Edward J. Flinn, of Boston; Michael Friedman (the able head of the Chemical and Dye combination, the DuPonts—the views and actions of such men have a tremendously important bearing upon the bringing about of business expansion or retrenchment and, consequently, upon the scarcity or abundance of employment.

Now, is it not logical that there should be a growing demand that experienced, responsible men of large affairs, men capable of judging vast business as problems, be sent to Washington in larger numbers than heretofore? If, as President Wilson once remarked, diplomacy nowadays has to be shaped by the considerations of the counting house, surely more men familiar with the counting house should be associated with our government.

The confidence of America's business leaders has been greatly strengthened by the presence in Washington, at the helm of vitally important departments, of men like Herbert Hoover and Andrew W. Mellon, as well as such advisors as Charles G. Dawes and Eugene Meyer, Jr.

Looking ahead it is encouraging to note the change into public life of young business-trained men like Theo. Roosevelt, who worked in a carpet factory and later with a financial firm and F. Ruben Davidson, son of one of the most brilliant international bankers America has ever produced.

Does it not appear as if hereafter more of the men who will administer the public affairs of the leading industrial nation of the world will be recruited from the ranks of business banking, industry, agriculture and labor and that a law school diploma will not henceforth be looked upon as the best passport to political place and power? The biggest business of all today is the running of our government. Should not the running of it therefore be entrusted more in the future than it has in the past to men of business training?

ED NAFTZGER DIES

SPENCERVILLE — (Special) — Ed Naftzger, editor of the Spencerville News, died in Seattle, Washington, according to information received here Thursday. ## BOOTLEG KING IS SHOT TO DEATH

Death Toll in New York Feud Reaches Twenty-One.

NEW YORK — (By United Press) — New York's bootlegger war blazed out again today with a dozen gunmen on an open hunt for the slayer of "Diamond Joe" Peppo.

Two more victims, making 21 in all, were added to the death list of the rum runners feud, when Peppo, who had made half a million dollars out of "the trade," was shot to death in Little Italy after a running revolver battle. A "sick" bullet pierced the heart of a bystander.

"Joe Peppo squealed and they got him," was the verdict of his enemies in the Harlem underworld today. The notorious bootleg king had just been released by the police but Peppo had lieutenants and such friends as the underworld all knew they were gunning for his slay today.

The police sent out a patrol alarm and five witnesses were wounded.

From them it was learned that Peppo drove up to the coffee house in his luxurious sedan. He had just stepped from the automobile when the shooting began.

Peppo leaped from the doorway into the middle of the room. His unidentified assailant allowed him as far as the door from which he continued to fire. Louis Rango, a jewelry salesman jumped from a table where he was sitting and was instantly killed.

From behind a pillar in the center of the room Peppo fired four shots and then collapsed.

STORE DISPLAYS GIVE HINTS OF HALLOWEEN, THANKS DAY AND XMAS

As you step into many Lima stores these days, undoubtedly you will see and make haste for the nearest calendar.

As you turn over the pages you will notice that only 64 days remain in Christmas, and most store managers realize it and have taken steps to be the early birds.

At any rate, several uptown stores are now displaying Christmas gifts and more are being added to the list daily.

More stores are arranging their displays for the holidays and judging from the early start being made by store managers, Lima is certain to have one of its most flourishing holiday seasons in years.

Of course, Halloween and Thanksgiving must come first but either of them is not far off.

Halloween comes this year on Sunday, October 30, but will not be celebrated until the following Monday. A week ago uptown persons could be seen strolling on uptown streets, going to Halloween parties and various functions applicable to the occasion.

Thirty-eight more days and Thanksgiving will dawn. Farmers are now fattening up their turkeys and produce dealers are ordering an abundant supply of edibles that are yearly consumed on this festive occasion.

INSECTS COST U. S. BILLION A YEAR

Attack Many Crops and do Heavy Damage.

DEFY EXTERMINATION WORK

Department of Agriculture Determined to Kill Them.

(BY NORRIS QUINN)
WASHINGTON - (Special Special) — Insects are costing the people of the United States $1,000,000,000 a year, says the department of agriculture. The ultimate consumer in the end pays for the crop, these insects destroy, than higher prices. With $1,000,000,000 every year the government could—
FOOT the bill of 500 disarming conferences, like the one scheduled for November.
PAY half the total cost of federal government operation.
KILL an army three times the cotton plant confines its activity.

present size.
PAY all current naval bills twice and have money left over.
Here's the official list of these marauders and the annual board bill of each:
Grasshoppers ..... $50,000,000
Chinch bugs ..... 60,000,000
Hessian fly ..... 40,000,000
Corn rootworms ..... 20,000,000
Corn earworms ..... 20,000,000
Cotton boll weevils ..... 20,000,000
Cotton boll worms ..... 12,000,000
Cotton leaf worms ..... 8,000,000
Apple podding moths ..... 20,000,000
Grain weevils ..... 10,000,000
Potato bugs ..... 15,000,000
Army worms ..... 8,000,000
Cabbage worms ..... 5,000,000
San Jose scales ..... 10,000,000
The total eaten by these pests amounts roundly to one-tenth of the total farm produce of the United States. But pests destroy 20 per cent of all the fruits grown every year and 20 per cent of the vegetables.
CHINCH BUG WORST
The chinch bug, with the biggest appetite of all mounting to $50,000,000 a year, affects Ohio, Indiana, southern Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska. Sometimes it invades the southeastern coast states.
Grasshoppers with a $50,000,000 appetite are more or less common throughout the whole United States.
The boll weevil, which feeds on cotton, has been found in the cotton plant confines its activity.

ties to the cotton growing states of the south. Other cotton pests bring the total annual destruction bill up to $140,000,000.
EXPERTS FIGHTING
At the department of agriculture a staff of expert entomologists continually are studying these pests with a view to stamping them out. They have already made appreciable progress.
Findings of the experts are published in bulletins at the government printing office. These bulletins are spread broadcast among farmers.
Government experts are also stationed in the field to study the pests where their destruction is greatest.
The department has accomplished much by studying "natural enemies" of the pests. These are other insects that devour the pests or their eggs.
When a natural enemy is found, its growth and spread is encouraged.

BIG CHANCES IN FAMILY

Man, Wife and Daughter, All Report Big Gains

"I gained 12 pounds, my wife gained 24 pounds and my daughter is gaining day by day taking Fanlac. It's the biggest surprise of our lives and all our friends and neighbors are talking about it. This medicine has made a wonderful change in every one of us. Before I got Fanlac, I could hardly drag on my foot after the other. I had indigestion perfectly awful. In fact we were all regular dyspeptics. We all sweat by Fanlac now at our house. It ought to be in every home. It's the world's greatest family medicine."
The above statement was made by George L. Tessey, a well-known and highly respected machinist, living at 83 Downing St., Buffalo, N. Y.
"Fanlac is sold in Lima by Hunter's Drug Store, and by leading druggists everywhere."—Adv.

FACTORIES BUSY AT EL PASO

City's Export Business Leaps to New High Mark.

ALL CITIZENS ARE BOOSTERS

Spillane Finds no Depression in This Texas Town.

(BY RICHARD SPILLANE)
EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 14.—El Paso boasts it never has had a boom, ever has known labor trouble and never has seen depression. Nearly one half of its population of 85,000 is Mexican.

Despite the depression in the copper industry El Paso is doing quite well, its biggest single industrial establishment is the smelter of the American Smelting and Refining company, said to be the second largest in the world. That is doing little, but the leading banker of the city predicts a revival in copper within three or four months. No other line of production, he says, gives proportionately so much tonnage to the railroads. For every ton of copper the transportation people get a haul of from 12 to 15 tons of coal, coke and other supplies. It takes 100 days, he says, from the pick to the market in copper. So if his prediction is verified, the copper business will be active in about six months.

El Paso has exports for 1921, totaling nearly $17,000,000. That is about the total for the three years, 1917, 1918 and 1919 combined.

For a border town, El Paso has a pretty well distributed lot of industries. With the exception of the smelter, they all are small, but they include four mills, lumber mills, oil refinery, saw and door manufacturers, foundries, and machine plants, cigar factories, metal trunk works, a bottling establishment, a candy factory and a broom and mop concern that sells its products in New England. There are about 370 of these small factories, and they seem to have plenty to do.

So, too, with the jobbers, the general supply people and the local department stores. Not until it is admitted that aggressive effort has exceeded the El Paso market well up into New Mexico and Arizona, and far to the east in Texas, is it plain how the town gets so much trade. Then the copper business is lived, the base country and northern Mexico regions draw heavily on El Paso.

Nearly all the merchants prominent in El Paso today started in the town in a very small way. You cannot make them believe there is any other better place in America. They are proud of the bleakness of Mount Franklin which rises down upon a city. They are proud of their so-called scenic highway that winds around the mountainside. They are proud of their residential section of 125 class architecturally and otherwise, also some persons might not agree with them. They are proud of their flowers, their trees and their plants.

Leading men impress upon visitors the great importance of making the people of the east know the worth to the nation of irrigating every possible acre of this south western country.

Captain Fater, publisher of the El Paso Herald, says there have been substantial gains in every branch of business hereabouts in the last three months, and he would like to know what license the organizers of the put out business charts statistics had for making El Paso black—dead black.

And wholly unrepresentative, he declared. The truth now is known, he adds, and those who err, are trying to correct their errors. In his judgment this winter will show not a revival, but a return to the best in the southwest.

As an evidence of the purchasing power of El Paso, the local traction people tell of offering portions of two bonds issues to El Paso residents, and in each instance the allotment was oversubscribed in a jiffy. Collections are good and savings deposits high.

El Paso has a fine asset in Fort Bliss. That brings millions of dollars of trade to the city each year.

El Paso is quite dry, although Juarez, across the river, is very wet.

To Relieve Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, or who are growing hard of hearing and have head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal remedy that in many instances has effected complete relief after other treatments have failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the seven or eight inches away from the ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is suffering from catarrhal deafness, cut out this for him and hand it to them and you may save them perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Per-oxide of Hydrogen (3%) Take this and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Persons who use in this way not only reduce the toxic action of the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian tube, but also equalize the air pressure on the eardrum by the constant use of the medicine in the middle ear and the result is that the hearing is quickly and effectively restored.

Every person who has catarrh in any form of distressing rumbling, hissing sounds in their ears, should give this recipe a trial.—Adv.

GERMANY IS BUSY BUT AFRAID

Catastrophe Boom Seen By Teuton Business Men.

HOLLOWNESS UNDERNEATH

Finances of the Country in Precarious Condition.

International financiers, confronted with the increasing depreciation of the mark and the coloring of the "Catastrophe boom" seen by Teuton business men, wonder what will be the outcome. Frederick W. Gehle, assistant to the president of the Merchants & Metals National Bank of New York, has just returned from Germany where he made a thorough investigation of conditions. He presents his views in this article written especially for The Lima News.

By FREDERICK W. GEHLE of the Merchants & Metals National Bank

NEW YORK — I have heard so often the expression, "We won the war, but Germany is winning the peace," that I fear the American people are being misled as to the true state of affairs. Germany not only lost the war in a military sense, but she was defeated economically, and the consequences are bound to show themselves in the near future.

It was my opportunity to talk with bankers and business men in various parts of Germany this summer, and I was impressed time after time with the expression they used in describing Germany's present condition. "Catastrophe boom" is the way they describe the present condition of affairs.

It is true that Berlin, Hamburg, Essen, Düsseldorf, Hanover and other industrial centers of Germany are amazingly busy today and that the entire population of 65,000,000 people in Germany are putting forth tremendous efforts to make late their production. EVERYBODY EMPLOYED. Almost literally there is no unemployment in Germany. The only people idle are the lazy and the disabled. On the surface Germany is the busiest part of the world today, but beneath the surface the hollowness of the boom is becoming more and more pronounced. Germany's finances are in a precarious condition. Her currency is being debased more and more every day by issue of tens of millions of paper marks which have no gold value. The taxes paid by the people are not sufficient to do more than meet one-third of the government's ordinary expenses, hence the printing of the paper money is destined to go on.

You cannot give value to paper money simply by placing on that money the name of the government's treasurer. Value can be produced only by production and savings.

Germany's production and thrift, however, is not sufficient to build her up, or for that matter, even to meet the tide of the stupendous indemnity obligations that have been heaped on her under the terms of the Versailles treaty.

In order to secure 1,000,000,000 gold marks for payment of the September 1 installment of the indemnity Germany was compelled to issue more than 20,000,000,000 paper marks were literally sold for gold marks; these paper marks were literally sold for gold just as any other commodity might be sold. The hollowness of the German economic situation must lead to a crisis, after which the real place of Germany in the world's economic scheme will manifest itself.

CARD OF THANKS. We wish to thank the neighbors and friends for the kindness shown us in our sad bereavement. ## COAL PRICES UP, OTHERS DROP Survey Shows Figures Same as Last Year.

SUPPLY OF FUEL AMPLE

Railroad Strike Will Not Cause Shortage.

There will be coal enough for all this winter, despite a long continued slump in mine production, information gathered by the United Press from every section of the country showed today.

If the railroad strike threatened for October 20, and if there may be a shortage in some localities but dealers in most cities report reserves enough to carry them through the winter.

Kansas and neighboring states report the lowest stocks due to the strike called by Alexander Howard, president of the Kansas miners, in defiance of the orders of the United Mine Workers. A reserve can be quickly built up, however, if this strike is settled, dealers said.

Other facts disclosed by the United Press survey are:

That despite the fall in the price of many commodities coal remains about the same price as last year.

That partly because of this, and partly because consumers are awaiting a fall in freight rates, most households delayed buying in winter stocks until the recent cold snap caused a rush in buying.

On the basis of present conditions, government officials at Washington, where the geological survey gathers weekly statistics on coal production, do not expect any winter shortage. The total production of soft coal for 1921, is estimated as 291,780,000 tons, as compared with 256,420,000 tons last year. Part of this falling off is explained by slack business conditions and part by the falling off in the export trade.

Government figures also show that many miners are out of work and railroad coal carrying equipment is idle. It is believed, therefore, that production could be speeded up quickly.

Most sections of the country reported slack buying until a few days ago, a good supply in the hands of dealers and only slightly lower prices.

Cities in the heart of the coal districts report low prices with no fear of a shortage under any circumstances. Pittsburgh is practically the only city reporting domestic consumers stocked for the winter.

Cleveland reports only a 30-day reserve on hand, but with shipments speeding up, Columbus reports a large reserve.

MILLER MAY BE NEXT POSTMASTER AT DAYTON

WASHINGTON — Frank Miller, former state superintendent of education, may be the next Dayton postmaster.

Miller stands first on the list of candidates who recently took the civil service examination. Whether he will get the appointment is problematical as the postoffice department has the right to select any of the first three candidates.

Forrest L. Yarn, elected Democrat incumbent, is second on the list, while acting Postmaster Welmer is fourth on the list.

HUSBAND FINED $1,000 FOR MURDER OF WIFE
PONCA CITY, Okla. — Legal procedure said by local attorneys to set a precedent, was recorded here when a jury in district court which had heard evidence against Napoleon Buffalo-head, wealthy Indian, charged with killing his wife, returned a verdict of guilty of manslaughter and assessed a fine of $1,000.

The jury is understood to have stood originally ten to two for acquittal. Unable after several votes to agree, the fine was accepted as a compromise, according to jurors.

ST. MARYS MAN IS STAR WITNESS IN FRAUD CASE

J. G. Neely, or J. Marys, Ohio, former president of the Boreas Pipe Line company and well known in Lima, said to be the government's star witness in the trial at Toledo of Jesse W. McDowell, prominent Pittsburgh business man, charged with using the mails to defraud, resumed the stand Friday to continue his testimony.

McDowell, the government contends, used the mails in conspiring to defraud the Cries Service company and the Henry L. Doherty company of a million and a half dollars in commissions and stocks, while acting as purchasing agent for the company.

In his testimony Thursday Neely declared that McDowell appropriated over $116,500 as an commission in the sale of a certain Kentucky tract which lies in the Berea oil lands. Neely then president of the Boreas Pipe Line Company helped engineer the deal.

SEVERAL INJURED IN RIOT AT PRISON FARM

TOLEDO — One prisoner was stabbed and several others beaten in a free-for-all fight that broke out during the supper hour at the work house farm, near White House, last night.

Guards with drawn guns succeeded in quelling the rioters after the fight had continued for more than a quarter of an hour.

James Green is said to have assaulted Alfred Bell, colored, with a table knife and the attack excited all the occupants of the dining hall, a number of whom joined in the fight. Bell was slashed on the back and was removed to the municipal hospital in a serious condition. Green and another prisoner named Walker were transferred to central police station.

DEATH CALL ANSWERED BY MRS. ELLA BROWN

NAB TONY MILLER ON RUM CHARGE

Police Raid Place in Public Square—Denies Guilt.

Anton Miller, 48, restaurant owner and soft drink saloonist, arrested Thursday night on a liquor charge, pleaded not guilty Friday when arraigned before Judge Emmett Jackson, in criminal court.

His bond was set at $1,000 and trial fixed for October 28.

In a raid made on Miller's place in 26 Public Square, Thursday night the police found seven gallons of whiskey, they claim. All of the liquor is illicit, the police state.

Miller's place has been under surveillance ever since the police say. Officers Glover and Landfair secured a layout of the place some time ago, they state.

Thursday the tip came that a consignment of whiskey had been run into the place.

A squad of officers led by Captain M. F. Dawson, closed in on the establishment. They found it a maze of hiding places. Liquor was concealed in vanities and secret compartments most everywhere in the building, police assert.

Two vaults were found under a quantity of coal in the cellar. The cash register was arranged to swing round disclosing a panel. Behind the panel were several quarts of whiskey, police charge.

Miller was taken to the station and booked. Later he was released on $1,000 bond signed in person.

BATTLE IS BEGUN TO CHECK DIPHTHERIA SPREAD

COLUMBUS — Efforts of the state department of health today were being concentrated to check the spread of diphtheria in Ohio and to prevent the usual epidemics of scarlet fever, whooping cough and measles.

Diphtheria is expected to present an unusually difficult task for the department this winter. During September there were 1400 cases reported, as compared to 700 for the same month a year ago. All indications are the disease may be unsalvageably prevalent, according to Dr. F. G. Boudreau, head of the department's division of communicable diseases.

All district health commissioners have been warned to watch for new cases in their districts and every possible preventative measure.

Railroad Strike Will Not Cause Shortage.

There will be coal enough for all this winter, despite a long continued slump in mine production, information gathered by the United Press from every section of the country showed today.

If the railroad strike threatened for October 20, materializes, there may be a shortage in some localities but dealers in most cities report reserves enough to carry them thru the winter.

Kansas and neighboring states report the lowest stocks due to the strike called by Alexander Howes, president of the Kansas miners, in defiance of the orders of the United Mine Workers. A reserve can be quickly built up, however, if this strike is settled, dealers said.

Other facts disclosed by the United Press survey are:

That despite the fall in the prices of many commodities coal remains about the same price as last year.

That partly because of this and partly because consumers are awaiting a fall in freight rates, most householders delayed buying in winter stocks until the recent cold snap caused a rush in buying.

On the basis of present conditions, government officials at Washington where the geological survey gathers weekly statistics on coal production do not expect any winter shortage.

The total production of soft coal for 1921, is estimated at 291,789,000 tons, as compared with 556,426,000 tons last year. Part of this falling off is explained by slack business conditions and partly by the falling off in the export trade.

Government figures also show that many mines are out of work and that the coal carrying equipment is idle. It is believed, therefore, that production could be speeded up quickly.

Most sections of the country reported slack buying until a few days ago, a good supply in the hands of dealers and only slightly lower prices.

Cities in the heart of the coal districts report low prices with no fear of a shortage under any circumstances. Pittsburgh is practically the only city reporting domestic consumers stocked for the winter.

Cleveland reports only a 30-day reserve on hand, but with shipments speeding up, Columbus reports a large reserve.

The inventor, Johnson, 603 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 day's FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him to-day for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.—Adv.

has been given Senator Underwood by the President that he will remain in Birmingham practically 24 hours and that he will participate in all the functions and ceremonies which the committee has arranged in his honor.

Arriving on a special train from Washington at an early hour on the morning of October 26, the president will be met at Pell City by a committee of prominent citizens of Birmingham and Alabama. Upon his arrival he will head the parade in which will participate practically all the civic, fraternal, military and semi-military organizations of Birmingham and many from other cities. In addition to the national guard units, there will be a guard of 1,000 members of the American Legion in uniform and a special guard of honor composed of veterans who were wounded overseas.

The grand marshal of the parade will be Brigadier General R. E. Steiner of PRATT CITY, Mo.

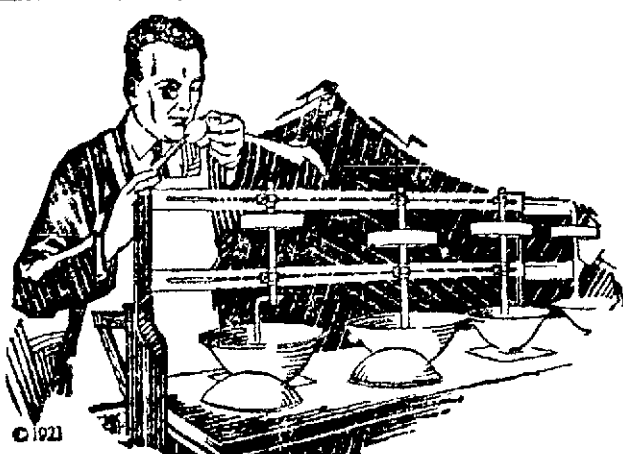

Another feature of the parade will be the 67 young women representatives of the different counties of the state, elected for their beauty and popularity, each of whom will have an elaborately decorated automobile in the parade. The president will make the principal formal address of the day in Capitol Park. A luncheon will be tendered him at the Tutwiler Hotel where several hundred citizens will be present.

During the afternoon the president will appear at three functions and will make short informal talks at each one. He will attend the inauguration exercises of Birmingham-Southern College, where the degree of L. L. D. will be conferred upon him. The corner stone of the new $1,000,000 Masonic Temple of Birmingham will be laid during the afternoon and the president will make a short address. Later, he will go to the dedication exercises of Underwood Park which is named in honor of the Senator from Alabama, at whose request President Harding is making the trip to Birmingham.

Grinding to a Thousandth of an Inch

Mechanical precision must work hand in hand with optical science to produce a perfect lens for the aid of human vision.

With extreme accuracy, the optical specialist can now measure those minute defects of the eye which denote dimmed vision or nerves overwrought. With a knowledge of optical principles he can prescribe the exact lens needed to balance and correct these defects of Nature.

But all this would be useless, were it not for mechanism so delicate and true that it can grind perfect curvatures of glass to the thousandth of an inch and finer.

Thus, our factory, in which we grind and test our own lenses, becomes an essential part of the service of our institutions. To make that service complete in each detail, from the fashioning of a lens to the turning out of a finished pair of glasses, is the ideal we have set to accomplish.

ACCIDENTS' COST PUT AT BILLION

Estimate of Safety Council Secretary for 12 Months.

WASHINGTON—(By N. E. A. Service.)—More than one billion dollars a year is the toll exacted by industrial accidents in the United States.

That's the estimate of Sidney J. Williams, secretary of the National Safety Council.

Williams bases his findings on a thorough investigation of industrial accidents in 1919.

There were 3,000,000 industrial accidents this year.

The fatal accidents, Williams estimates, resulted in the loss of 6000 working days each, making a total of 138,000,000 working days.

Temporary disabilities are estimated to have caused the loss of 50,000,000 days.

Permanent disabilities caused loss of 115,000,000 working days. That makes a total of 296,000,000 working days—the total time toll of 1919 industrial accidents.

Williams estimates the average daily wage of the workmen injured at $4. That gives those 296,000,000 lost days a wage value of $1,184,000,000.

But all that isn't lost. The 23,000 men who lost their lives didn't have to pay for food and lodging. That was "saved." That represents $331,000,000.

Subtracting that leaves a total of $853,000,000 wage loss.

Besides that, accidents led to expense in doctor and hospital bills. These amounted to $161,000,000. That gives a total of $1,014,000,000.

000 as the cost of 1919 industrial accidents.

OPEN LETTERS

To the W. F. M. S.

DEAR FOLKS: Your presence in my city during the greater part of the present week, in furthering the interests of the splen did work you are doing in behalf of christianity and good citizenship, is a pleasure to me.

I have been proud to have you here as the guests of my people and trust that your visit has been as prolific of pleasure to each one of you as it has been to me to have you.

LIMA BEANE

To L. Earl Ludwig
To T. R. Hamilton
To F. C. Povenmire

MY FRIENDS: Since you have been appointed members of a special commission to investigate the acts of O. J. Roush as chief of the department of police of my city, I trust that you will leave nothing undone to go into the situation thoroly and that justice will be done, no matter who is affected, or how.

"Hew to the line, let the chips fall where they may." There has been so much said about the police department and its head that it is high time proof should be afforded or the circulation of charges stopped.

LIMA BEANE

To the Giants, World Champions

BOYS: 'Twas a wonderful exhibition of the great national pastime you staged in winning. I like your fighting spirit. The man who can fight his way thru and come back after he is apparently whipped is the one that counts. You did that. My congratulations.

LIMA BEANE

To Henry Ford

DEAR FRIEND: I am glad to note that you are planning an extension of your railway system which ultimately will give you a direct line from Detroit to Mobile. My city being one of the principal points along your present road and certainly a very important junction, will be helped by any development you undertake. Accept my best wishes for the venture and also my tender of fullest cooperation in any way I can be of assistance.

LIMA BEANE

To Fire Chief Mack

MY DEAR JAWN: I wish to approve your position taken against use of wooden shingles for the roofing of houses. I take it that you do not intend that such an order should become immediately effective, but that the rule should be made a part of the building code of my city, worked out by the chamber of commerce committee.

There are large stocks of such shingles on hand, no doubt, which dealers should be afforded the opportunity to dispose of. I believe, too, that in time, without action against them, the wooden shingle will pass off the scene, other forms of roof covering taking their place.

LIMA BEANE

To Lodgemen

MY FRIENDS: With a return of fall and cooler weather, I anticipate that attendance at your regular meetings will be enhanced and that more attention will be given to your programs of activity.

I share with you the hope that your winter assemblies will be prolific of pleasure and profit.

LIMA BEANE

To Mayor Burkhardt

MY DEAR FRANK: "A job half done is better not begun." This old quotation strikes me as being applicable to your action in designating a special commission to probe the acts of Chief of Police O. J. Roush.

Why you are restricting your committee to a probe of one man when a member of the civil service commission makes open sweeping charges against the entire department, is something that I am unable to understand fully.

If the police department is "rotten," as has been charged, and which spurred you to action, why not investigate the entire force?

LIMA BEANE

To Base Ball Fans

DEAR FRIENDS: If you feel the same as I do about it, you are glad, also sorry that the world series has come to an end, for the year 1921. To the real base ball fan it has been a nerve racking period, but now that it is all over, there is a certain measure of satisfaction.

I was mighty glad to have so many of you present each day with me at The Lima News base ball party. Hope you'll be with me again next year.

LIMA BEANE

To Motorman No. 1739, City Lines

DEAR SIR: Please allow me to thank you for the courtesy I have seen you extend to those who ride on your car. I have seen you do a number of favors, especially when your car was crowded. Your helping women with little children and aged persons on and from the car, deserves commendation. You are making friends for yourself and the company you serve.

MORAL VALUES

(By DR. WM. E. BARTON)

LET us not be too much disturbed about the sag in economic values. That situation will right itself in time. Just when prosperity will return no man knows, but that it will return everybody knows.

The more serious sag is in moral values. Hear what Judge Elbert H. Gary said some little time ago. "Conditions are abnormal, and even the minds of thoughtful people are distorted. This, of course, is a result of the terrible time we have just passed thru. The exhibitions of hate, greed, passion and distrust come from an abnormal condition of the people. During the war men had been thinking of power and force. Demoralization, envy, stupidity, have developed."

"The capitalist has been using his wealth unreasonably. If not unfairly, to increase his fortune. The workmen have been trying to obtain more compensation for less service. The tradesman has been buying at the lowest possible prices and charging the highest price that would be tolerated."

"There has been much indifference on the part of many to the rights and interests of others. The golden rule in business has been temporarily suspended."

Judge Gary is a man of business, and not a preacher. He has, however, said something which has the ethical value of a sermon.

Economic values will come back. Industrial expansions and depressions follow each other in cycles. We know that the period of commercial prosperity, the possibly delayed, cannot be permanently pushed back.

But ethical values come not back automatically. We have no guarantee of the restoration of those values of which Judge Gary spoke except by the definite and united effort of right-minded men and women.

"The supreme national need is repentance." Is the nation in the mood to realize this need?

STEEL GAINS AT FAST CLIP

Production of Finished Products Gathers Momentum

(BY ALBERT APPLE)
PITTSBURGH — (Special) — Recovery in the finished products end of the steel industry is going ahead at a fast clip.

Production now is averaging at these percentages of capacity, or fulltime operations:

Tin plate mills ..... 85 per cent
Wire mills ..... 70 per cent
Sheet mills ..... 80 per cent
Pipe mills ..... 40 per cent

Three months ago, when the steel industry hit the bottom of depression, out put of finished steel products sagged to an average of about 25 per cent of capacity.

Since then, recovery has been steady. Steel leaders believe it will continue so, the momentum is expected to gain slowly. Averaging the whole iron and steel industry, manufacturers do not expect to pass 50 per cent operations before January.

BUYING GAINS

The nation's steel mills during September turned out 142 tons of steel ingots for every 100 tons produced in July. Here are steel ingot production figures, showing the gain of 42 per cent.

July ..... 803,376 tons
August ..... 1,138,071 tons
September ..... 1,174,740 tons

A steel ingot is the raw material from which finished steel products are made. The relation is like flour to bread.

Big stocks of steel ingots are on hand at the mills, hence ingot output is behind output of finished products. September ingot production was only 30 per cent of capacity. That's at a rate of 16,584,000 tons a year, which compares with 30,280,130 tons produced in 1913 and 43,619,200 tons in 1917, the banner year.

Average production in the steel industry now is 40 per cent of capacity.

By Edgar A. Gurnea

IF I WERE RICH

"If I were rich," said my Uncle Jim, and many a lesson I've learned from him.

"I'd spent a part of my golden pool sending a few poor boys to school. And never could folly lay me flat. Or ruin my future for doin' that."

"If I were rich, with a heap of gold I'd warm a few houses that now are cold.

I'd give away what I didn't need. Buy books for some invalid to read. Or scatter a little happiness. An' that wouldn't ruin my life a guess."

"If I were rich I would keep away from the scarlet haunts where the lights are gay.

An' where some buy shame I would try to buy A grateful look in a mother's eye. With the extra coin which I had to spend. Somehow I'd willingly play the friend."

"A fool is he," said my Uncle Jim. "Who lets his money bring shame to him. He can scatter it here in a thousand ways.

Which would bring him glory an' words of praise. An' his gold, if only he understood, is his greatest chance for the great est good."

MISSIONARY MEET IS CLOSED

Final Session Friday Honors
Local Committeewomen

Closing session of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, which convened in the Trinity Methodist Episcopal church Tuesday, was held Friday morning. Over 200 visiting delegates attended the last meeting.

With the election of officers late Thursday and with all other important matters disposed of, the meeting Friday morning was given over to generalities. One of the features of the closing session was the introduction of all local committee women, who occupied positions of honor in the program.

Reports of the four summer schools maintained by Ohio were read and approved Friday. Short addresses on topics of general interest to the society were given by the local committee women. The closing remarks before the convention were given by Miss Russell after a presentation of a purse of gold by her associates.

All motor and rail lines of transportation were taxed late Friday afternoon with added traffic caused by the concentration of visiting delegates to reach their homes.

The 1922 convention will be held in Chattanooga, Tennessee.

MOST TOYS SOLD IN AMERICA THIS YEAR COME FROM GERMANY

Mechanical toys are coming into their own again and Christmas displays will see more of them than for several seasons past, was the text of information released Friday.

Christmas toys, 50 per cent of them, will come from Germany this year. German made dolls still prevail in local stores, only approximately 10 per cent of all dolls played on in the United States.

We have found that German toys can be purchased for about one-half the price American manufacturers ask for them, stated W. H. Brown, the department manager for the Loder Store. Mechanical toys, popular a few years ago, will again be on display this season. The reason for this is because the war has left toy makers free to turn out the more mechanical marvels again, Mr. Brown said.

WANTED: MOST PERFECT BACK IN AMERICA!

LETTERS TO LOVERS

By WINONA WILSON

OPPOSITES attract, we say idly, when we meet a tall man with a short girl, or a handsome husband with a plain little gray dove of a wife. By mating opposites, nature maintains her averages, says science.

Sometimes the theory works in subtle ways. Here is an odd combination arranged by nature.

"For several years, I was a dancer, my parents being stage folks," writes CONFUSED. "Two years ago I was hurt in an accident and never can dance again. A year ago I met a well educated young man who wishes to marry me. He will give me a good home, and never in my life have I known what a home is like."

"It seems like a dream, too good to come true, and maybe it never will. I am not sure, but the young man was brought up by parents violently opposed to dancing. Although they are nice to me now, I know they would never let their son marry one who has been a professional dancer."

I dare not tell him the truth, but I cannot live him up."

Whatever the outcome, the man should have the truth. It is vital because it has to do with her dignity. The man is entitled to know what is the ancestry of the mother of his children.

Once in a while it is necessary to reply to a letter with a frankness not at all desired by the writer. For instance, to a girl of 20 who writes to marry a man of 50. He wants her to keep house for him on an island. Montana ranch. He has offered to marry her, but she doesn't love him.

However, she would like to be his housekeeper, and of course her parents object. Then the man offers to adopt her and leave her his wealth, and still her parents protest that her reputation would be ruined.

"Would it be?" asks the girl.

Echo—from every corner of the country: It would.

A girl who cries herself sick when she can't have her own way says that some trouble with her fiancé, she fell to the floor, was unconscious for a day and a night, while the young man and her mother watched over her.

And then she was shocked when the young man suggested that they part for six months, or until she could learn to control her temper.

Her hope chest was lifted, every time she saw it she had more hysterics. Finally her father took it from her room.

Now this is not a very subtle form of the "will-to-power." Indeed it's a much too common way of influencing a man. "Cutie" tears are a variation of the extreme detailed above.

Obviously a specialist in nervous diseases ought to treat the young woman—until the young man in the case is convinced that she is a bit candidate for matrimony.

LOVE IS LOST: GIRL GRIEVES

Is Heart-Broken as Ardent of Her Friend Cools Off

Advised to Permit Matters to Take Their Course

Dear Miss Smart: I met my ideal. At least I think he was. As I have never met a man for whom I cared so much. When I was in his company I had a sense of happiness that I have never known before. He was in my mind, he never said he loved me, but I am sure that by the way he looked at me he cared for me. Perhaps it was because he might have been a little bit hurt that he did not propose to me. I want to tell you that he would write me. I gave him my address. I have not heard from him yet. I feel terrible. Do you think I should write to him?

MISS ANN
No, my dear girl, no. Most probably the man was not too helpful to propose, nor was he in love with you. Perhaps he was in no way impressed with you, but simply enjoyed your company and found satisfaction in visiting you. No, a hundred thousand times no, do not write to him. Why should you? You gave him your address. Is not that sufficient? If he promised to write you and did not care for you any more than just a good friend, at least he could have been gentlemanly enough to carry out his promise. Do not under any circumstance write to him unless you first hear from him.

Dear Miss Smart: I will tell you the address of the following: (a) John P. Rockefeller, (b) "Richards," The Wizard, and (c) Wallace Reid?

JERRY
(a) Letters addressed to Mr. Rockefeller at Cleveland, O., will reach him; (b) letters addressed to "Richards, the Wizard," at the Hotel Arroyo, Lima, O., will be forwarded to him; (c) 1520 Vine-st., Los Angeles, Cal.

PRETTY TABLE

A pumpkin, the loveliest, yellowest one you can find, of the rather long variety, can be the basis for a really beautiful centerpiece for your November party.

Cut in halves, lengthwise, and then scoop it out. Get small, round sticks and gild them for the pumpkins and make sails of white silk. Press the end of the sticks into the pulp of the pumpkin and it will stand quite firmly.

Then, with your brush dipped again in gilt put the word Mayflower on the pretty craft. Line it with waxed paper and load it with autumn fruits.

Use as a base for the ship a small box or tin which you have banked in autumn leaves and vines or chrysanthemums.

GRAVY

If the gravy boils and thus becomes lumpy or the ingredients have a tendency to separate, add a little very hot water and stir vigorously. Its original smoothness will be restored.

A WIFE IN THE MAKING

By PHYLLIS PHILLIPS

ANOTHER MISUNDERSTANDING

It seemed more than strange to Cherry that her husband had never mentioned seeing Arline in Chicago. She tried her best to down any ignoble thoughts concerning the two, but over and over the bitter fact came to her mind that it Ned had felt entirely right about the thing he would certainly have confided in her, and explained just how and why he had felt it necessary to go about with his secretary.

More especially did she feel hurt about the news having come to her through an outsider, as it were. Ned might have spared her that.

When questioned on the subject, some hours later he was decidedly on the defensive. "Didn't see that his actions called for any criticism whatsoever," he had only been humbly decent to a lonely girl."

"I didn't question your motives when you went motoring and to tea with Arthur Hamlen," he reminded her, after their heated argument. "And if you wish to devote some of your time to him in the future I'm sure I can't stop you, nor have I any desire to make a scandal about it."

"Why, Ned, you forget that you were very nasty one night about Arthur and me," Cherry reminded him, firmly. "You always seem to forget where you yourself, have fallen down."

"Oh, well, the whole thing is so stupid that I don't feel like wasting time or words in defending or otherwise," he answered, crossly. "We'll have the average miserable life together, if we begin questioning and doubting, you and I. Cherry, so you'll not forgive and forget the whole lot of accusations?"

Cherry's lips closed tightly at these words. She, for one, was not going to be accused of "pettiness."

Mrs. Martin and John Galt met them at the head of the line.

"We have good servants now and I could not think of letting you go until after luncheon," Mrs. Martin said to Riddies.

"Besides, you have treated us so fairly," Mrs. Martin added. "You have taken us by surprise, and here we are in our working clothes and you so immaculate—and I with a stunning new morning suit in the closet which I have never worn. You simply can not go away until you have seen it."

"I long to see it," said Riddies. "Besides, I'm hungry. As to our maid, I have no objection to her coming to see it. I have no objection to her coming to see it."

"You're forgiven on condition that you will take a walk with me now," said Mrs. Martin.

"Now we are going to have a proper respect for our maid, and Mrs. Martin."

"It's a beautiful gown. You couldn't look lovelier."

"But my blood is driving up with sorrow," the young lady answered. "The butler has it. Struck for more money, and when I refused it, he cleared out bag and baggage."

"Good! Here's where I get back on my old job," said Riddies as he rose from the table. "Please let me have it."

Riddies would take no part in the talk until each course was served and he had sat down at the table.

"You are like all the butlers," said Mrs. Martin. "We pay you the price you ask and then you want more."

"I do not have privileges enough," said Riddies with a laugh.

"You say that better of that," the young lady answered. "Monday we have what is called a 'Take-it-Back Day' in Coulterville. It will be a day for the righting of old wrongs—a day of 'owning up' and paying back and turning new leaves in the book of life. The Y. M. C. A. and the Christian Endeavor people have been working up a lot of surprises. The ceremonies are to be held in the park. You will have a chance to see your errors and confess them."

"That's too big a contract," said Riddies. "It would take me a week to get this."

Near the middle of the afternoon the young men started for Coulterville.

"She is all that I thought, but I can see that my case is hopeless," said Galt as they were riding along.

I am like poor Standish. I sent the wrong ambassador."

"Oftener—deeper bright!—I have tried to keep faith. I have tried my best for you in spite of the fact that I am in love with the girl myself—a thing I couldn't help."

"My friend, I have not a word of complaint," Galt answered. "I would be the last man to blame you for falling in love with her, and, of course, you couldn't help showing it."

"I'm going to make another play for you. If it works, I'll retire from the scene and leave you here. I'm rather resigned to the fate of a bachelor."

"I forbid it. I haven't had time to get so hard hit as you are. You must go ahead. I am out of it."

"Don't be hasty. I have slender faith in my chances."

"Then I am sure you are blind," Galt answered. "I can see that she loves you."

Galt was both fools about women," said Riddies. "I don't profess to be able to read 'em."

"A reception to Mr. and Mrs. J. Reginald Travers will be given in the club parlors at 7:30, dinner at 8:15."

That legend was a footnote on the cards of invitation. When Riddies and his friends arrived at the country club the reception had begun. Slowly, the Belle Harbor men made their way into the crowded parlors. J. Reginald Travers was using his perfect English on a group of adoring ladies. Mrs. Travers, groomed and powdered to the limit—to quote the phrase of Riddies—looked like a queen. She was very beautiful, and her talk as soon as Riddies was announced.

"I am blind!" said Travers as he took the hand of the mill owner. "It is, shall I say, thrilling that we should meet here as we do."

"And to think," said Mrs. Travers, "we didn't know we were entertaining an angel unaware!"

"Madame, I don't want to be an angel," said Riddies. "For such promotion I am not quite prepared."

"You see our gratitude knows no where to set its limit," Travers interposed. "We love and admire you, dear Riddies, and may we not hope that you will accept the office of our friend and well-wisher?"

ITCHING SKINS

Don't pick or scratch an itching, fiery skin. Eczema, Rash, or Pimples. It's dangerous and may cause serious infection or poisoning of the condition. Instant relief may be quickly obtained by using GLENN'S WORMWOOD BALM. This famous antiseptic Wormwood treatment takes out the fire and stops the itching, immediately. Leaves a delicate cooling sensation that quickly soothes and comforts the rough, sore, irritated skin. One trial will convince you. Ask your druggist to supply you with GLENN'S WORMWOOD BALM and you will have your money back if you are not satisfied. —Adv.

"That will be easier," said Riddies. "And before you leave here may we have you for, at least, a dinner at Coulterville?" Mrs. Travers asked. "I do so want to talk with you about certain of the mysteries of life. You know I was told by a fortune-teller that I would meet my husband unexpectedly, and that we should be married on the twenty-fourth of June. It all seems to pass."

Riddies and his friends went on down the line. "I need a breath of fresh air," said he to the Mayor of Belle Harbor with a laugh as they emerged on the club veranda and lighted cigarettes. Riddies was thinking how the fortune-teller and the sentimental old lady had had their stage set for the entrance of the fortune-hunter.

Johnstown was told of the nature of his suffering and how Mrs. Worth gave quick relief.

"I had been so nervous for a long time that I could not get any restful sleep," said W. A. Johnston who resides at 804 Napoleon street, Johnstown, Pa., and who is one of the city's most substantial citizens. "This caused me to be tired in the morning and I had that irascible and run down feeling coupled with these troubles I had a poor appetite, my digestion was in bad shape and I suffered severe pains in my back so that I could not work."

On top of all my kidneys did not work right. I finally got a bottle of Nerv-Worth and took it as directed and now I want to tell you that I am pleased to say I am alright again. My appetite and digestion are good, I sleep soundly and my nervousness is gone."

STOLEN PROPERTY IS RETURNED

$800 of War Department Supplies Recovered Here.

KERR DENIES RESIGNING

Investigation of Affairs of Troop E Continues.

Actual probe into the property accounts of Troop E cavalry began Friday morning by the inspectors detailed for the work by Adjutant General George Florence.

An inventory of the property will be taken and checked against the accounts.

Evidence that the theft of property began in January and February.

A sergeant then with the Troop was found guilty of stealing several hundred dollars worth of property. He was held in jail several days and was indicted by the grand jury.

RESTITUTION MADE.

He made restitution and was released. The investigations stated Friday that this leniency was a mistake. They believe that it has encouraged other members of the troop to steal.

Only three troopers are under arrest at present, according to Lieutenant Colonel John Bingham, who denied that confessions had been obtained from 14 men.

A number of members of the troop are under suspicion, however, according to Lieutenant Chas. B. Orin, James Cooksey and Orin, who were arrested and later released, divulged the names of others implicated, it is claimed.

No civilians have been arrested in connection with the thefts, it was stated Friday. According to both Orin and Bingham, however, it is their intention to prosecute civilians who have bought army property. Civilians who made the purchases in recently, will not be prosecuted if the property is returned.

Several pairs of shoes and some shirts have been turned back, it is stated. About $800 worth of property has been recovered.

When the armory was looted in June a gunny sack full of automatic pistols was stolen, together with other property. No arrests have been made in connection with this robbery, although the property stolen constitutes a large percentage of the total shortage.

Evidence of the shortage, it is claimed, was brought to attention of the War Department, thru a non-commissioned officer from the regular army, who was in Lima on an inspection tour during the summer.

KERR HAS NOT RESIGNED.

Both the inspecting officers and Captain Kenneth Kerr denied that he had resigned, as reported.

"Captain Kerr cannot resign during the progress of the inspection," Orin stated. "We do not have his resignation, and could not accept it, if it was tendered."

Orin added that Captain Kerr might consider resigning later, this was denied by Kerr, however, who stated that he had not resigned and had no intention of doing so.

Acting on the strength of confessions obtained from members of the troop, former army officers in the city predict that the shortage will be cleared up when a survey is made. The evidence of the robberies will account for the disappearance of the property and clear the way for surveying officers to write off the loss, they state.

PROSPERITY NEAR FESS SAYS

Ohio Congressman Declares War's Dark Period Passed.

U. S. REACHING SOUND BASIS

Gives Optimistic Pointers in Address to Realtors.

SPRINGFIELD, O. — (By Associated Press.) — Congressman Simeon D. Fess, of Yellow Springs, Ohio, chairman of the National Republican congressional committee addressing the convention of the Ohio Association of Real Estate Boards, declared here today that the United States is basically sound and is on a winning road.

Mr. Fess asserted the United States stands first in agriculture, transportation, manufacturing and mining, fiscal ability, managerial ability and labor, all of which he said, "are basic and serve as a sure foundation upon which to build a wonderful prosperity just as soon as we can reach a sound basis upon which to build."

Mr. Fess set forth things which the present administration has done and is doing toward attaining the sound basis upon which to build.

"We are now in the aftermath of the world's greatest convulsion. It is that period of convalescence which follows a racking disease.

"The period from which we are slowly recovering saw a national debt of less than a billion leap to the staggering figure of $26,000,000,000. In this orgy of expenditure we see a tax bill of three quarters of a billion three years after the war was closed.

"This season of disintegration presented our country's greatest test. It challenged our fundamental principles of government and suspended all economic laws. It unsettled our institutions and threatened our nation's perpetuity. The close of the war left us the problems of readjustment, much graver in possible consequence than the war itself. These problems were both foreign and domestic.

"Fortunately our foreign relations are being rapidly adjusted and to the complete satisfaction of the people, at large.

ARMS LIMITATION

"The conference on the limitation of armaments promises to be the outstanding achievement of the present century. It is the promised consummation which has been the dream of generations. It is destined to accomplish without the loss of our sovereignty what ex-President Wilson was so anxious to secure thru the league of nations, which unfortunately was thought to dangerously involve the nation's independence. It also has opened the door for the amicable solution of the Far Eastern problem the one cloud on the horizon of our international relations."

Speaking of the present business situation, Representative Fess said: "The real solution must be economic rather than governmental. The cost of production is too high. While the government is reducing the cost of government, industry must reduce the cost of production. This should be done by mutual agreement between the leadership of the managers and that of labor. The public which supplies the market demands it. If the lowering of the cost of production is not reached by mutual agreement it will come thru the force of economic law, thru the closing down of all industries upon a too high cost basis. This means suffering."

Progressives Declare Senate Action Will Be Forced

WASHINGTON—(United Press) —The Newberry case must not be dropped.

This was the notice served today on administration leaders in the senate by a number of progressive Republicans, who said they had information indicating that the party leaders counted the Michigan election case closed.

The progressives, who include Kanyon, Norris, Johnson, La Follette and some others, intend to join with Democratic senators, it was said, to force action in the senate upon the reports filed by the committee that investigated charges that Newberry spent too much money in getting elected in 1913.

Republican leaders have virtually informed Newberry that the sweeping exoneration he obtained in the majority report of the committee, is about all he need expect in the way of action for a long time at any rate. Democrats who filed minority reports, criticizing Newberry and the committee, will see an opportunity of calling up the reports for discussion and action in the senate.

The Republican progressives intend to vote against seating Newberry. There may be enough of them in combination with the Democrats to unseat him, administration leaders realized.

"SAFETY FIRST" GOSPEL EXPUNDED TO CHILDREN OF LIMA PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Sixteen hundred Lima school pupils were instructed on "safety first" methods Thursday and Friday by W. L. Allison, Chillicothe is district safety director for the B & O railway system.

Allison lectured in several schools on practices of caution in crossing railroad tracks, trespassing, getting on and off street cars and trains and other acts on the "safety first" basis when near trains, cars or other vehicles.

Allison visits cities along eight main line divisions of the B & O, expounding practices of "Safety first" to school pupils and employees of the railroad system. He stated that his visit in Lima and his calls to the several schools were made solely on his own initiative, and that he is gratified with the results.

Every school pupil in Lima to whom Allison preached his gospel of "safety first" promised to practice it, he said.

WASHINGTON—(United Press) —The Newberry case must not be dropped.

This was the notice served today on administration leaders in the senate by a number of progressive Republicans, who said they had information indicating that the party leaders counted the Michigan election case closed.

The progressives, who include Kanyon, Norris, Johnson, La Follette and some others, intend to join with Democratic senators, it was said, to force action in the senate upon the reports filed by the committee that investigated charges that Newberry spent too much money in getting elected in 1913.

Republican leaders have virtually informed Newberry that the sweeping exoneration he obtained in the majority report of the committee, is about all he need expect in the way of action for a long time at any rate. Democrats who filed minority reports, criticizing Newberry and the committee, will see an opportunity of calling up the reports for discussion and action in the senate.

The Republican progressives intend to vote against seating Newberry. There may be enough of them in combination with the Democrats to unseat him, administration leaders realized.

VETERANS PUT FIRST IN HARDING'S ORDER

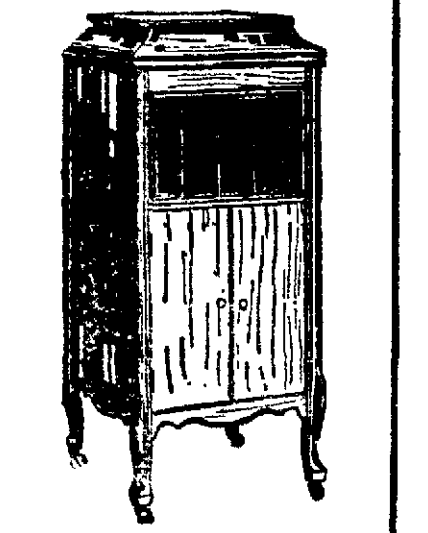

WASHINGTON — A fixed policy giving preferential consideration to veteran applicants who are veterans of the world war was inaugurated by President Harding today by executive order.

The civil service commission was directed by the order to add five points to the examination rating of every prospective presidential postmaster who had been in the government service during the war. In addition the president ordered that age limitations be waived in such cases and that the period of service during the war be reckoned as a part of the required length of business experience.

FEAR REVOLT IN PORTUGAL

Republicans Prepare to Prevent Return of Ex-King.

LISBON — (By N. E. A. Service) — The Portuguese government is obviously nervous about the possibilities of a revolution.

Everywhere you go in Lisbon there seem to be barracks in which soldiers swarm. There must be thousands of them.

One thing that worries the Republicans is that in the last election for Parliament three monarchists were elected from Lisbon.

This was the first time this had occurred since King Manuel was kicked out. And the government promptly quashed the elections on some technicality.

But it is evident the men with money believe a revolution will not take place or if it does, it will not hurt property owners. For I saw many new buildings in course of construction here. Most of them were five and six-story apartment houses.

The majority of the Portuguese hate the king. They hate the Spaniards because they feel that Spain has given haven and encouragement to royalists constantly plotting for the restoration of Manuel.

They hate the English. For Portugal borrowed heavily from England to finance her part in the war and is now having a hard time paying back.

The hate America. Every year before the war thousands of Portuguese went to the United States. Some engaged in cranberry picking in Massachusetts, some in fishing off New England some on California fruit farms.

It was a seasonal job with them, and most of them returned home each year, bringing their earnings. Now they complain because this is almost impossible under our new immigration laws.

OHIO LABOR CONVENTION WILL CLOSE TODAY

HAMILTON — Officers predicted that the 25th annual convention of the Ohio State Federation of Labor, which opened Monday, will close late today. Measures of importance are still pending but will be disposed of at the morning and afternoon sessions today.

Programs for educational campaign along safety lines will be presented by committees previous to adoption of the resolution favoring the appropriation of $150,000 by state of Ohio for a safety campaign and safety inspectors. The federation will carry on an extensive safety campaign thru its own officials apart from the state unless Ohio measures are passed.

Contests in the election of officers, expected to be held late this afternoon, are forecasted by committee men who announced that several candidates will be out for the leadership office.

At 10:00 A.M. CROSS THE DAY WITH SATURDAY. REMEMBER THE CHILDREN.

Plans for running at Derby's.

LOSES SIGHT, BUT WINS FAME

New Career Carved by Blinded British Publisher.

LEADS IN WORK FOR RELIEF

Knighted for His Service to Returned Soldiers.

BY MILTON BRONNER
LONDON — There does a man who lived in the world of light and made a great career for himself. Then he passed into the world of darkness and carved a new and just as great a career for himself.
That's what a friend said recently concerning Sir Arthur Pearson.
A little over thirty years ago, a young Briton, Alfred Harmsworth, George Newnes and Arthur Pearson, were working for small salaries.
All had the same qualities—energy, business genius, a nose for news and a profound understanding of the British public.
In later years they came near owning the newspaper and magazine publishing business of London.
HOW THIS CREW
Harmsworth now Viscount Northcliffe, owner of the Daily Mail, owned a little paper called "Answers." It had jokes and bits of all kinds of information.
Newnes started "Tit Bits" in opposition to "Answers" and ran it very much on the same lines. One day he offered a good job on a paper to the reader who best answered a lot of questions.
Pearson was the job. After a while he made up his mind to run a paper of the same sort himself, and founded "Pearson's Weekly."
Pearson pulled wonderful stunts to popularize the paper. The biggest was when London had a great epidemic of influenza.
A famous specialist said one of the best preventatives was eucalyptus. Pearson quietly went out and bought up every available ounce of the stuff in England.
Then every copy of Pearson's Weekly was impregnated with the drug. You could smell each copy as it came.
Thousands of people for weeks afterward went about with a copy of the paper buttoned under their vest or dress.
Pearson afterward founded "Pearson's Magazine," the "Royal Magazine" and the "Daily Express" and bought a controlling interest in several other papers.
Then came 1912 and his eyes gave way.
Twenty years before he had established the Fresh Air Fund. Now he devoted time and money to it, with the result that in one summer over 120,000 children were sent from slums of London to the open country for a holiday.
When the war broke out, he was not secretary with Sir Hecley Le Bas of the Prince of Wales's fund, which collected about $39,000,000 for the relief of distress among the poor.
He was also one of the first to grasp that hundreds of soldiers would be blinded. He was, therefore, a moving spirit in looking after blinded soldiers and teaching them to become self-supporting.
Pearson finally was knighted for his great services.

MOTHER DEEDS HER SON TO ANOTHER WOMAN

TAMPA, Fla.—A warranty deed formally transferring ownership of a small boy from one woman to another has been placed on record here.

The deed shows the transaction took place last January in Hardin county, Texas. Mrs. Davis, deeding her three-month-old son to Mrs. Norma L. Wilson. Mrs. Wilson recently moved to Tampa and had the deed recorded to prove her ownership.

Court house officials declare that in their opinion the deed is illegal in that it is unfair to the child and deprives him of the rights of inheritance as provided in papers of adoption. In the event of the death of Mrs. Wilson before the boy is of age, he would pass as a chattel and become part of the estate. If the transaction was held legal.

MARSHAL FOCH WILL SPEAK AT INDIANAPOLIS

INDIANAPOLIS — Marshal Ferdinand Foch will be the principal speaker at the cornerstone laying here on November 4, of the proposed world war memorial building planned to be erected by the state of Indiana, according to an announcement made today at national headquarters of the American Legion.

Plans for the memorial building project propose that part of the building will be used as national headquarters of the legion and the stone to be used as a cornerstone was the one taken from the bridge over the Marne at Chateau Thierry and given to the legion. Funds for the building are now being raised by taxes.

AUTO HITS WOMAN

Mrs. O. E. Benton Injured in Delphos Mishap.

DELPHOS — (Special) — Mrs. O. E. Benton sustained serious injuries when struck by an automobile at a street intersection here. The injury is confined to the base of the skull, as a result of Mrs. Benton being thrown to the pavement when she stepped in front of the Joseph Frederick auto, while avoiding a truck.

The woman was not rendered unconscious, but was lamed by the blow and it is feared that the hurt may be serious.

During the street fair here recently, a large number of small balloons were released. According to word received from Strasburg, Va., one of the balloons, bearing a Delphos mark, landed there, 840-miles from this city.

A romance that began in Bohemia resulted in the marriage of Tony Motyka and Mary Soukupova in Van Wert-co Thursday.

Tony came to the United States in 1912 from Bohemia. He has resided in Harrison-tp for several years. Mary came from overseas to marry him.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE MEDAL AWARDED JUDGE

COLUMBUS — Judge Benson W. Hough of the supreme court has received the Distinguished Service medal from the war department.

Another honor recently bestowed upon him was election to the thirty-third degree in Masonry.

The medal citation reads: "For exceptionally meritorious and distinguished services as a regimental commander in the military operations of the 42nd division in the Baccarat sector, March 4 to June 21, 1918; the second battle of the Marne, in which the 42nd division participated in defense of the line east of Châlons, June 28 to July 21, 1918, and in the offensive against Rheims, Chateau Thierry, Soissons salient, July 24 to August 3, 1918."

NURSE TALKS TO WOMEN OF CITY

Prominent Ohio Medical Woman Highly Recommends Peppen to the Public.

Mrs. Harriet Collins, of 1172 East Rich Street, Columbus, Ohio, is a prominent nurse at the Capital City. Because of the nature of her calling and her knowledge of medicinal preparations, what she has to say about Peppen is especially valuable.

"I know of scores of cases of stomach trouble, nervousness, constipation and other ills here in Columbus that have been relieved by Peppen," says Mrs. Collins. "The remarkable thing is that in most of these cases other medicines had failed to produce the slightest results."

"In my own case, Peppen proved to be very unusual. I was busy nursing a patient and finally contracted the disease. I became very sick. At times I didn't know whether I would ever get well. However, the fever left my body after I was able to leave my course and I was able to leave my bed. But I was very weak and, as time went on I didn't gain strength."

"Besides being weak, every particle of food I ate soured on my stomach. I lost weight until I looked like a shadow of my former self."

"One day I stopped at a drug store and the proprietor said, 'Mrs. Collins, why don't you try Peppen? We are selling a large quantity of it and from the reports we are receiving it must be a very powerful tonic. Everybody speaks well of it.'"

"I started taking Peppen. I have gained 15 pounds. I am now strong and well and am able to be in attendance on a long case and not feel unusually tired when I am dismissed."

Peppen is a new system tonic which is now being specially introduced at Hunter's Drug Stores. It is also sold by other leading drug stores in Lima and nearby towns.—Adv.

BRUTALITY AT BOYS SCHOOL

Officer Held for Murder Following Death of Youngster.

GATESVILLE, Tex. — Following the death of Delia Thomas, 15, at the Texas Training School for Boys, for whose death Capt. H. G. Twyman, 35, is being held on the charge of murder, the State Board of Control is conducting a searching investigation of the institution.

Young Thomas had been at the school but two days. It is charged, when the ordeal began which resulted in his death.

This according to testimony of witnesses, consisted of repeated whippings with a three-inch strap, "pulling toes" and other cruel punishments.

The Thomas boy according to witnesses, was compelled to strip his back and hips and then lie upon his stomach on the ground for a lashing. Superintendent C. E. King, and other officials at the institution say that this system of punishing is common and has no injurious effect.

Joe Thomas, an inmate of the home, testified he was lashed on 12 different occasions, seven times by Twyman.

By "pulling toes" it was brought out, a boy is forced to stand stiff-legged, reach down, grasp his toes and hold this position until his superior orders him to stand up.

Thomas said Thomas stood in this position for 35 minutes and after which he was forced to crawl.

YOU know what "convenience outlets" are of course—wonderful little arrangements in the walls or the baseboards into which is placed the plug for the electric toaster, the electric percolator, vacuum cleaner, charging dish and the hundred and one things which electricity is of.

Never can be too many "convenience outlets" in a house—two or three in every room with additional ones in hall, upstairs and down, are not too many. It is better to have "too many" than too few. An electric appliance is much more useful with its "convenience outlet."

The better time to have outlets installed is when the house is being built; although we are installing them in many old homes quite satisfactorily. An outlet in time is a convenience always.

BLIND SEE, DEAF, HEAR THRU WOMAN'S PRAYERS

CANTON.—The blind profess to see, the deaf to hear and the lame say their afflictions have been cured thru the prayers of Mrs. Almes Sample McPherson, woman evangelist, who is conducting revival services here.

The municipal auditorium in which the meetings are being held and which seats 4,000 persons, is packed to capacity every afternoon and night while thousands are turned from the doors.

Mrs. McPherson denies that she has any personal power in effecting cures. She attributes them entirely to prayer and to the faith of those afflicted.

ACCUSED WEST VIRGINIA MEN APPLY FOR BAIL

LOGAN, W. Va.—Logan-Boneco disturbance defendants today continued their testimony begun yesterday in support of an application for admittance to bail following postponement of their trials the day before until the January term of circuit court. When Judge Robert Bland, this morning ascended the improvised bench in a motion picture theatre, serving as a court room while the county building is being repaired it was brought out that the hearing would be concluded probably today. The taking of testimony was made necessary by the prosecution's objection to the release on bond of 18 of the 31 men who appeared for trial Wednesday.

NEAR DEATH FOR LACK OF MATCH

Toronto Doctor, Lost in Woods Two Weeks, Rescued.

ATIKOKAN, Ont. — (By Associated Press) — Dr. Graham Chambers, Toronto physician, rescued after being lost for two weeks in the woods, almost starved to death for lack of a match.

Dr. Chambers arrived here last night on a litter strapped to the bow of a motorboat, weakened from cold and hunger. He said he had seen plenty of partridges and that he had not lacked for ammunition, but refrained from shooting any birds because he was convinced he could not eat them raw.

When found by two Indians, Dr. Chambers finally had shot a partridge, and was sitting under a tree, trying, but vainly, to force himself to eat the raw flesh.

His feet were badly blistered from tramping thru the bush, tho he said he had not done much tramping after the first day when he read that he was lost and was in danger of going further into the woods.

He said one of the armen engaged in the search for him had flown over the spot where he was standing, but that he was unable to attract the flier's attention.

One pound of oil used in ships furnaces is said to have the same heating effect as ten pounds of coal.

LEFTY HOUTZ'S WAPAK REDS TO INVADE BALL PARK SUNDAY FOR FOURTH GAME OF INTER-COUNTY-SERIES

THE fourth big game coming up Sunday when the Wapak Reds, twice conquerors of the Lima team, return to the Murphy-st diamond with every purpose and intention of annexing the third win of the five game championship series being played between Lefty Houtz's ball clubbers and Cap Clark's home town nine.

Recalling the victory of the Wapak crew in last Sunday's laphazard game that was filled with arguments, errors and some brilliant plays, we are still wondering as are nearly all the Lima fans who witnessed the game how the Reds got away with the contest, for he it said with little argument that on paper the Lima team far outclassed the visitors in nearly every position both in the offensive and defensive side of the firing line.

Then why, with a four run lead, was the game allowed to be handed on a platter to the plough boys from Auglaize-co? No one seemed to be able to answer for the apparent tossing away of a victory that the home town fans deserved to call their own until the question was put up to the Lima management who covered the situation briefly in the following statements:

That Jones was in no condition to resume pitching after having suffered a broken check bone as the result of being struck by a pitched ball, and that the con tinuance of the Dayton spit baller in the game was an error against the better judgment of team management in order to comply with Jones' request to be permitted to pitch the remainder of the game. Jones was injured more than thought at the time and is at the present being treated at a Dayton hospital.

Rusen suffered a broken finger in the fourth inning and showed 100 per cent loyalty when he forced himself to suffer thru the last five innings of play. Harry Clark, handicapped with a nasty spike wound of the Sunday before, was using but one arm at bat and which is accountable for his being unable to hit pitching that should be to his liking.

These things, plus the lack of the old time pep such as was in evidence in the days when Costello, Egan, Wentz, Schaffer and Flannery seldom failed to come thru with the runs that always made the bean town team the best, is responsible for the loss of Sunday's game.

The management of the home team after battling a heavy losing proposition for the first three months of the season is appreciative of the "come back" spirit of the fans who have for the past ten games turned out in over flow crowds making it possible for Lima to support the best paid base ball club in the state and the players who have not been delivering will, it is said, be replaced by new material before the team ties into the Wapak Reds for the fourth game of the series.

It is not known what players are to draw a rest from regular duty, Rusen and Jones will be unable to play the remainder of the season and rumor has it that Seward will sub let the first base job to someone who has the old determination to do more than worry thru the nine innings, at any rate we gather from the information given out at base ball headquarters that in the coming game with Wapak the nine that represents the home town will carry no smiles and lack the indifferent attitude that has made defeat where victory should have been.

ROOTERS GO BACK TO WORK AFTER A WEEK OFF

NEW YORK.—New York went back to work today after partially forgetting business for more than a week because it interposed with interest in the world series.

A few of the more enthusiastic fans decided to wait a while before returning their noses to the grindstone. They felt it wholly befitting to sit and talk about what a great thing it all was—the triumph of the New York Giants over the New York Yankees, five games to three, in the first world series that Manhattan ever enjoyed to itself.

These fans opened the Hot Stove League season with fervor. Much of their chatter concerned yesterday's finals in which the Giants beat the Yankees 1 to 0.

The Giant rooters contended their favorites were the greatest in ball doted how, after then had been shut out in the first two contests, the McGraw men fought back, winning five of the last six games.

Supporters of the Yankees countered with the observation that unaccustomed breaks in luck lost the last two games for the American leaguers. Home pitchers, Mays and Hoyt, performed magnificently and deserved shutouts. And they also would have. Giant fans remember that Babe Ruth, the showman of all showmen in the matter of eluding baseballs, played the early games handicapped by a multitude of injuries which forced him out entirely in the final trio of contests.

Everybody agreed that one big reason the Yankees lost the title after starting out like whirlwinds was the failure of their heavy hitters to hit heavily.

Under the rules of the series, proposed by Emil, Bob must furnish a Thanksgiving dinner for the whole Mousel family.

WITE HOYT, the defeated twirler, was almost heartbroken at his failure to win his third straight game over the Giants. "I gave the best I had," he said.

BABE RUTH, long known as the King of Klout, and Sultan of Swat by his subject fans, was formally crowned in the club house after the final game of the series.

Mayor Miller Higgins officiated at the coronation ceremony, placing on the royal head $600 worth of silver crown presented by admirers. The crown was inscribed "King Ruth."

NOBODY can say we quit," Babe Ruth declared. "It's too bad we lost, but even in defeat we fought hard until the last man was out. The Giants got the breaks in the last two games. Luck was with them, but we gave them a real fight."

ANOTHER NEW, who twirled the Giants to the world's championship in the final game, said the ninth inning was the most thrilling he had ever pitched. "I knew I had victory and the title within my reach when I walked out to the mound in the ninth," he continued.

"I was not disturbed when Ruth came to the plate instead of Pipp. The biggest moment came when Ward walked and Baker stepped to the plate. I remembered that Baker beat Mathewson in a world's series by making a home run in the ninth inning. I pitched carefully to Baker and when Rawlings stopped that ball it took a load off my mind."

THE "Turkey Series" played off by the Mousel brothers, Emil of the Giants, and Bob of the Yankees, was won by the former with a batting average of .345 to Bob's .200. In 29 times at bat, Emil scored four runs and made ten hits for a total of 17 bases.

The Yankee Mousel, in 30 trips to the plate, scored three runs and made six hits for a total of eight

IT AIN'T THE SAME WHEN THE BABE AIN'T THERE

BY BERTON BRADLEY
NEW YORK.—There were eighteen men in the seventh game, eighteen men who were playing ball, and you couldn't say that the fight was tame, but it lacked a bit of the proper thrill. There was something missing, pep and charm to make the battle a hot affair, for the Babe was ill with a festering arm—and it ain't the same when the Babe ain't there.

That subterranean hurler, Mays, was pitching ball that is seldom beaten, but fate has wondrous and mystic ways, and luck is doubtful and sad and fleetin' and an error or two in the Yankee field, some balls that bounded too far in air, compelled the twirler at length to yield; no, it ain't the same when the Babe ain't there.

It's true, Bambino ain't lined it out the way that the Yankees hoped he might, it's true he got but one circuit clout (as the baseball writers sometimes write,) but he's always a threat to the Giant gang. There's always the chance that he'll knock it where the sun and stars in the ether hang — no, it ain't the same when the Babe ain't there.

It ain't the same, there's a glamour gone, there's a glory lost, there's a missing throb, a sort of pall cast upon the game when the infant ain't on the job. We miss his figure, we miss his face, we miss his attitude debonair, and the Polo Grounds is a dreary place, for it ain't the same when the Babe ain't there.

Old J. Frank Baker, the home-run king (well, he was one, once and a great one, too), performed with a hand and a healthy swing and played his best, as a man should do; while Schang, McNally and Fick and Pipp, and Fawcett, too, hit the ball for fair—but something was gone of the old-time zip—for it ain't the same when the Babe ain't there.

VAN WERT ELEVEN TO PLAY SOUTH HI SATURDAY

The South Hi eleven went thru its final hard day's workout Thursday evening in preparation for Saturday's game with Van Wert, which will start at 2:30 o'clock at South Field. A light signal drill was scheduled for Friday afternoon.

Van Wert has a number of veteran players in its ranks, and only a battle of desperation by the South Hi team can win. Coach Young has been telling his men that "We're not going in to hold them; we're going in to win."

Central Hi will leave Lima early Saturday morning for Marion, where they will tackle the strong high school gridiron squad there. Coach Detrick has put his men thru the hardest week of practice this season for the game.

A number of Central Hi students and rooters will accompany the team, several parties going over to Marion in automobiles.

When Central played the Van Wert team at Van Wert two weeks ago, they beat them 13 to 0. South's game with them Saturday will enable Lima fans to start compiling dope as to which team is the stronger.

From now on both teams will be carefully watched up until their final game when they play each other Thanksgiving.

Twenty-two players, two coaches, Business Manager Nickoloff and a large delegation of rooters made up the party.

Sarris and Higgins, centers did not accompany the team, they being on the injured list, and Deutsch, guard, remained here on account of the illness of his father.

FILMS MONOTONOUS WHEN MADE TO FIT STARS

(By ESTHER WAGNER)
THEL CLAYTON is to be starred in the film version of "For the Defense," Richard Bennett starred in the original play by Elmer Rice, and you'll arrive at one of the reasons for the monotony of stories in the films. The producers make the picture fit the stars. It would seem a high form of art if the stars were made to fit the pictures.

Most of our stars never change tricks and apply the same each picture. Thus the personality of the star predominates his or her characterization.

"For the Defense" was a starring vehicle for a man on the stage. Now it is the starring vehicle for a woman on the screen.

The part created by the author for featured position will be relegated to a minor role, it seems, unless

Miss Clayton dons masculine attire and mustache to fill the role played by Bennett.

With Nasimova playing "Camille" for the screen, it is interesting to recall the list of great actresses who played it on the stage: Bernhardt, Luse, Itejana, Modjeska, Netherale, Laura Keane, Clara Morris and Ethel Barrymore.

Larry Semon arises to make a most pertinent remark. In Paris, scenes from the classics of French literature are shown on the screen and prices are offered to those who can guess the works from which the scenes are made.

"That's a stunt American exhibitors could use with American-filmed literature without losing much money," Larry remarks. And hearty assent is heard in the amen corner.

Try 'Em Out, Is One Girl's Theory

THE play "Moonlight and Honey-suckle" by George Scarborough, was a delightful little story that enjoyed a profitable run in its movie version, with Mary Miles Minter in the leading role, is equally pleasing. She's a darling all thru the picture.

This is the sort of picture which teaches that things are not what they seem, viewed under different circumstances, especially matrimony. The nice young man who looks oh so pretty in a dress suit and proposes so divinely may have a hundred faults; he may be a power among his co-workers but also a pill about the home. So, it is a wise young lady who crosses her fingers and waits for a rainy day to give her final decision.

"The Wild Goose" at the Opera House

WHAT does "The Wild Goose" mean, we hear you ask. Of course, it doesn't mean the real thing with web feet and feathers, but in the present as in the past, it is one Frank Manners, an artist and a one woman man. If Frank can't have his own wife he doesn't want any body else's. Nor does he want to live.

Mrs. Manners is one of these human beings who craves excitement and, becoming bored with just a husband and child, takes advantage of Mr. Manners' absence in California to become mixed up with a dork gentleman who desires to be amused. Mrs. Hastings, a friend of the Manners, does her best to make Mrs. Manners' life a bit more normal, but she is no avail, and the old woman returns to find his nest in danger. Later the wife and child flee with the dork gentleman who, he it herein stated, had bitten off a larger chunk than he had intended. He certainly didn't want to start a rumus, neither did he want to elope with a wife and child.

For the help of old Mr. Hastings, peace is restored to the upheaval and a reconciliation is effected.

The picture is from the story by Gouverneur Morris. It is well photographed and fairly well cast. The men seem to play so much better than the women. Nor, an Kerry is splendid as the dork gentleman, while Mary MacLaren, as the heroine, has some good scenes, although her work in the first of the picture is quite ordinary. Dorothy Bernard, the actress brunette is quite pleasing.

"The Wild Goose" is the feature today and for the remainder of the week at the Farrot Opera House.

RUDYARD KIPLING'S

WORLD READ STORY "WITHOUT BENEFIT OF CLERGY"

Pauline Starke. She is a free-lance actress much in demand by directors. Her last picture was "Mam'selle Jo." She is now leading lady in "If You Believe It, It's So."

Rex Ingram. He made a reputation by the direction of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." Now he is making a feature film of "The Prisoner of Zenda."

Moore In a New Comedy

THEL CLAYTON, the erstwhile Owen Moore for getting himself into a scrap or two to keep himself busy for five reels or so, in "A Divorce of Convenience" now playing at the Lyric theatre, has more adventures than he can take care of. He's seen in the role of Jim Blake, a stranger in New York with a wild wandering after adventure. A beautiful Mexican senorita whom he meets in the hotel lobby, furnishes the adventure. You see, her husband had agreed to a divorce of convenience, but it is absolutely necessary to have a correspondence. The tears of the beautiful senorita completely melts the heart of Jim Blake and he promises to help her. So he becomes the correspondent.

Now anyone who knows that to be a correspondent in a divorce case is a sure way to bring on the troubles and Jim finds that out pronto. The Mexican lover appears on the scene, also Jim's fiancée, her father and various other elements, all of whom complicate matters to a certain extent.

Jim, however, tells lies by the yard, some of which are plausible and some which are not, but when he discovers that the senator is the other part of the divorce—well, you've had too much of the story told you already. It's no fun to see a picture when you know how it's going to end is it? Of course, not.

"A Divorce of Convenience" is capital entertainment if you like these comedy dilemma things and don't mind being kidded along a bit.

At the Lyric today and until Saturday.

THEATRE DIRECTORY

AT THE REGENT

"Wet Gold" with a special cast, opens a two day engagement today at the Regent theatre. Also a comedy and added features.

AT THE MAJESTIC

Bryant Washburn is starred in "Too Much Johnson" appearing today and Saturday at the Majestic theatre.

AT THE RIALTO

"Dead or Alive" with Jack Hoxie in the stellar role is the attraction today at the Rialto theatre.

THE MOVIE GRAPHIC

"Kiss and Make Up" is the title of the next Christie comedy.

Vernon Steele will play opposite Ethel Clayton in "For the Defense."

Paul Seardon—he's Betty Byrnes' husband—is directing Miss DuPont in "Hopes"

"The Infidel" seems to have an all Scotch cast—Katherine MacDonaid, Melbourne MacDowell and Lindsay McKenna.

Rupert Hughes is the busy little scenario writer. He has just finished another one which will soon go into production. Colleen Moore will be starred and Alfred E. Green, who directed Mary Pickford in "Little Lord Fauntleroy," will handle the megaphone.

SIMS REFUSES TO SPEAK AT ARMISTICE DAY DINNER

NEW YORK — Rear Admiral Sims has declined an invitation to speak at the Armistice Day dinner of the New York Chapter of the Military Order of the World War. Officers of the chapter today attributed the refusal to the command he received for his speech in England in reference to Sinn Feiners.

His office quoted the admiral as writing to the chapter: "A year from now when I am on the retired list I can say what I feel like and then I'll be glad to talk to you."

A Main-st jeweler is authority for the statement that stickpins and lavallieres are two articles of jewelry that apparently have lost their popularity.

"Some fellows like the necktie ornament," the jeweler said, "provided it is a diamond. But temporarily at least, lavallieres have lost favor."

A nature lover, too modest to permit the use of his name, affords this information and it is passed on to you.

There are many kinds of berries in the woods and fields about Lima that are just coming into the fullness of beauty. Hikers are gathering the wild grape, the black and red haws, black alder, flowering dogwood, the greenbrier and the hackberry, used mostly for decorative purposes.

And some of them are mighty good to eat, particularly the red haws.

James F. Barry, Western Ohio

ticket agent, was the owner of a fine pair of cuff links of considerable intrinsic value and as a keepsake.

Several times he lost one or the other of the links, but last Friday he lost one for keeps. The same night, the remaining one, heartsick, also wandered away.

"'Twas a bad Friday, that day," Dale observed.
